Užice to Nitra

(The exhibition of paintings, sculptures and photographs of the professors of the Užice Teacher-training Faculty)

Every person visiting Western Serbia, Zlatibor, Sirogojno, Mokra Gora and other mountain villages, can get acquainted with the art work of Obrad Jovanović, a painter, an art teacher and a longtime professor at the Teacher-training Faculty of Užice. Widely known for his charisma, talent and hard work, Jovanović, for more than three decades, captures the attention of people by his personality and his art work which decorates the walls of many galleries. His painting is special and unique and certainly has its place in the Serbian art scene in the second half of the twentieth century. One art historian said that he is a paradigm of Serbian epic destiny and a painted testimony of Serbian myth, its greatness and transience (Dragiša Milosavljević).

Nedaleko od Užica, na ceste k Zlatiboru, v dedine Bela Zemlja, je skromná stavba, ktorá pripomína stredoveký srbský dom, domov Obrada Jovanovića. Na kopci s krásnym výhľadom do všetkých svetových strán, vo svojom ateliéri vytvára Jovanović svoje úžasné obrazy. V malom, ale veľmi teplom dome, pozoruje a víta východy a západy slnka, reflektuje život a vytvára svoje obrazy, kresby, grafiky a inštalácie.

Pôvod a tradícia sú späť s Jovanovičovou pracou a preto je právom pomenovaný ako skutočný srbský maliar. Zachytáva zvyky svojim spôsobom, ktorý je veľmi čistý a rozpoznateľný. V jeho malbách môžeme cítiť atmosféru udalostí dediny, ako sú žiaľ aj tiché utrpenie nad hrobnmi, pohreby, spomienkové bohoslužby, ale aj radosť dedinských dievčat na dedinských oslavách a svadbách, kde všetko prekvita šťastím a radostou. Chlapci opití vínom a krásnymi dievčatami, starí dedinčania s Četník čiapkami a ženy v šatkách, pôzujú pred starým fotografom. Umelec ich umiestňuje do prostredia súčasnej srbskej dediny a nekonečne fascinujúcej krajinu. Ale to nie je zmysel rozprávania. V týchto obrazoch Jovanović dokáže zobraziť ironiu, cynizmus, satiru a humor. Zobrazuje svet srbského rolníka, ktorý vplyvom vetra a slnka predčasne zostarol, nakolko sa snažil užiť svoju rodinu. Takýto človek sa na Vás pozerá z obrazov Jovanoviča. Avšak, v každom z nich môžete nájsť rôzne a silné postavy. Niektoré postavy z obrazov sa na Vás pozerajú s nadhľadom, iné zvedavo, podozrievavo, alebo ironicky, zatiaľ čo iní sú dobromySELNÍ, až naivní.

Mnohé z obrazov Jovanoviča zobrazujú fantastické bytosti a javy, ktoré sú plné skrytých symbolických metafor. Vizuálne obrazy na jeho maľbách nepotláčajú a neskrývajú ideu, naopak, sú často doplnené o zaujímavé a originálne názvy. Obrazy sú plné monštróznych postáv pripomínaných démonov, s čiernymi trojuholníkovými tvárami a vystupujúcimi očami, ktoré zlovestne čihajú na obeť. Na týchto obrazoch temných hier je vždy aniel strážny alebo nevinný baránok a zatúlaná ovca, ktorá sa vracia k svojmu stádu. Na obraze s názvom „Diabli a uční táhajúci za nitky, na ktorých sú ovce“, Jovanović jasne približuje obraz toho, ako on vidí ľudí okolo seba, ako aj celé civilizácie, ktoré sú pre neho veľkým stádom a v ktorom je jediná nezodpovedaná otázka „kto nesie zvon“? Postava barana sa často objavuje v jeho obrazoch. Je to takmer jeho obchodná známka. To je archetypálny symbol. Baran je vodcom stáda, ale zároveň aj obeť, obetené zvieratá.

Pri maľovaní prírody je Jovanović úplne iný. Ak v obraze nie je postava, ani príbeh alebo symbolika, potom v obraze dominuje len čistá

Many of Jovanovic's paintings depict fantastic beings and phenomena, and are full of hidden symbolic metaphors. The visual images in his paintings do not push and hide the idea that is often aided by very interesting and original titles. The paintings are full of monstrous characters resembling devils, with black triangular faces and prominent eyes that ominously lurk a victim. On such paintings of dark game, there is always a guardian angel or an innocent lamb and a stray sheep to be returned to its flock. On his painting named "The Devil and Apprentices Pull the Strings and Share the Sheep" Jovanovic clearly gives a picture of how he sees the people around him and the entire civilization, which for him is a big herd, and in which the only question to be answered is "who bears the bell"? A figure of a ram often appears in his paintings. It is almost his trademark. This is the archetypal symbol. The ram is the leader of the flock, but at the same time, a sacrifice, a sacrificial animal.

When painting nature, Jovanovic is completely different. If there is no figure, story or symbolism in a painting, then there is a clean landscape krajina, ovládaná bohatými farebnými gama tónmi v závislosti na ročnom období, v ktorom krajiny vznikli. Témou obrazov s prírodou sa lišia od zasnežených a chladných oblastí, s ružovým súmrakom k teplým jesenným krajinám s riekami, kaňonmi, jazerami a lúkami. V obrazoch krajín môžeme čítiť určitý mysticizmus a duchovnosť, ale vo väčšine z nich je vyobrazené pohorie, ktoré pôsobí veľmi silne a mohutne a divák hľadí do diaľky. Daný pohľad je presne ten istý, ktorý má Jovanović zo svojho ateliéru, pohľad, ktorý siaha veľmi ďaleko. Niekedy sa v popredí pasú ovce s baranom, ich vodcom; je to len symbol, ktorý upozorňuje diváka, že toto je oblasť, po ktorej kráčajú horali a kovboji.

Farby hrajú v jeho obrazoch dominantnú úlohu. Pri hľadaní harmónie a krásy používa bohatú paletu farieb. Rozpätie farieb sa pohybuje od najjemnejších, blankytných, jemných pastelových odtieňov, cez jasné teplé odtiene, až po temné a tăžké farby, ktoré majú symbolický a aj metaforický význam. Často sa zaoberá s textúrou povrchu, pretože chce ukázať na vzťah medzi drsnými, nerovnými povrchmi z kameňa, skál, baraními rohami, kóry a hustými lesmi až po čisté a hladké plochy na nekonečnej oblohe a pokojnej vode. Tento vzťah a kontrast medzi turbulenciou a pokojom, teplom a chladom, malebnosťou a nepeknosťou je evidentný v každom obrazu. V grafikách, ktoré sú vytvorené technikou suchá ihla, je dominantou kresba, a línia rieši umelecký problém. Opäť dáva do kontrastu silnú a výraznú líniu s jemnými a krehkými, ktoré sú ľahké ako vánok. Motívy na jeho grafikách a kresbách sú rovnaké ako tie na jeho obrazoch.

Vidan Nikolić je profesorom srbského jazyka na Učiteľskej fakulte v Užici a autorom mnohých románov, poviedok a esejí. Okrem jeho talentu na jazyky a literatúru, je posadnutý talentom a láskou k sochárstvu. Inšpiráciou pre svoje príbehy hľadá v srbskej histórii, tradíciách a živote ľudí v malých srbských obciach a nápady pre svoje sochy nachádza v rozlahlej prírode. Nezvyčajné korene, pne, kamene zarastajúce drevom, to všetko sú jeho plastiky. Výhradne sa spolieha na prírodný a výrazne tvorivý potenciál a vyhýba sa kontaminácii týchto prírodných foriem a ich kontaktu s dlátom. Vo svojich sochách trvá na zachovaní tvaru, ktorý vytvorila sama príroda. V nájdených kusoch, Nikolić objavuje znaky tým, že ich najprv leští. Jeho diela sú výtvorom jeho vnútorného cítenia, ktoré sa snaží oživiť a vizualizovať. Jedinečná a neopakovateľná prírodná forma v rukách Vidana Nikolića dostáva nový význam a stáva sa živou.

Na tejto výstave sa prezentuje s tromi originálnymi a špeciálnymi prácami. Jeho aktívna predstavivosť je vyobrazená v dielach Sfinga, Pes a Pastier, a tým odhaluje časť svojho stanoviska k svetu, ktorý ho obklopuje. Umiestnil prírodné konfigurácie v kontexte reality. Tajomnosť diel je ponechaná na diváku. Práce, ktoré sú plodom prírody, premenil na umelecké diela, ktoré zostávajú predmetom predstavivosti. Nikolić nechce rušiť harmóniu dreva a kameňa. V jeho rukách sa stávajú živými. Drevo a kameň sú dokonalé leštené povrhy, s viditeľnými kruhmi a linkami, ktoré vytvorila príroda. Na niektorých miestach je povrch mierne kopcovitý, ako vráskavá koža zvierata. Umelec sa snaží uvoľniť kameň, ktorý je uväznený medzi lesmi a dať mu výrazný vzhľad a charakter. Hoci kameň je tvrdší a chladnejší materiál ako drevo, nie sú v rozporze, ale zlúčujú sa do jedného tvaru a jeden príbeh. Jeho ruku a nástroje s pohybmi dláta v procese tvorby týchto unikátnych sôch vedie čistý talent.

dominated by the rich colorful gamma tones depending on the time of the year in which landscapes are incurred. The themes vary from the snowy, cold regions, with a pink dusk, to the warm autumn landscapes of rivers, canyons, lakes and meadows. We can feel certain mysticism and spirituality in the paintings of landscapes, but in most of them there is a mountain, strong and powerful, and a viewer staring into the distance. His view is the same view that Jovanovic sees from his studio, the view that reaches far away. Sometimes in the foreground, the sheep are grazing, with a ram as their leader; only to remind the viewer that this is the area where the foot of a Highlander and a cowboy walks.

Color is dominant in his paintings. In search of harmony and beauty, he uses a rich variety of colors. Color ranges from the finest, azure, gentle pastel shades through bright warm notes, to dark and heavy game in the paintings that have both a symbolic and a metaphoric meaning. He often deals with a texture of the surface, because he wants to show the relationship between the rough, uneven surfaces of stone, rock, ram's horns, bark and dense forests and the clean and smooth surfaces of the endless sky and calm water. This relationship and the contrast of turbulent and calm, warm and cold, ugly and beautiful can be identified in each painting. On his graphics, made in the technique of dry point, the drawing is dominant and the line solves the artistic problem. Again, he contrasts a strong and expressive line with a gentle and fragile one, which is as light as a breeze. The motives on his graphics and drawings are the same as the ones on his paintings.

Vidan Nikolic is a professor of the Serbian language at the Teacher-training Faculty in Uzice and the author of many novels, short stories and essays. In addition to his talent for languages and literature, he also possesses a talent and love for sculpture. He finds the inspiration for his stories in Serbian history, tradition and life of the people in small Serbian villages, and the ideas for his sculptures he hunts, like a trail-seeker, in the vast nature. Unusual roots, stumps, rocks ingrown with wood are his sculptures. He relies exclusively on natural and expressively formed potentials, and avoids these natural forms to be contaminated with the personal touch of the chisel. In his sculptures he insists on preserving the shape that nature itself made. In a found piece, Nikolic discovers the characters by first polishing it. His artwork is made up of his inner sensibility that is seeking to liven it and turns it into the visible. The unique and unrepeatable natural form in the hands of Vidan Nikolic gets a new meaning and becomes alive.

At this exhibition he presents himself with only three original and special works. His active imagination sees in them the Sphinx, a dog and a shepherd, and thus reveals a fraction of his opinion about the world that surrounds him. He places natural configurations in the context of reality and catches the invisible with a glimpse of his eye. Mysterious and hidden is left to the viewer. The works, born of nature, turn in his hands in an art form that continues to be the subject of imagination. Nikolic does not want to disturb the harmony of wood and stone. In his hands it becomes alive. Wood and stone surfaces are polished to perfection, with visible rings and lines that nature made. In some places, forms the mildly hilly, like the wrinkled animal skin. The artist is trying to free the stone, oddly trapped between the wood, and to give it a distinctive appearance and character. Although the stone is harder and colder material than wood, they are not in conflict but merge into one form and one story. Pure talent leads his hand and tools in the process of making these unique sculptures with the moves of a chisel.

Podobne ako postava Velizar, z príbehu „Kamenný nevlastný syn“, aj Vidan Nikolić berie ušľachtile drevo z prírody spolu s kameňom, a tvaruje ich. Srbi majú presvedčenie, že ak milujete dievča, musíte namaľovať jej charakter s láskou. Ak máte radi, urobíte, a keď urobíte, dostanete sa bližšie. Nikolić našiel svoje pocití a jeho večná láska k umeniu je evidentná v jeho príbehoch a tvorbe nezvyčajných artefaktov. Jeho sochy sú stelesnením jeho uvoľnenej individuality, ktorá stále rastie, chce sa vymaniť zo svojich vlastných hraníc a stať sa súčasťou vesmíru.

Branko Popović je umeleckým riaditeľom, docentom múzických umení a prodekanom pre vzdelávanie na Učiteľskej fakulte v Užici, predstaví svoju prácu prostredníctvom fotografií, ktoré nafotil hlavný fotograf Užica, Baja Vujović. Každá fotografia je príbeh sám o sebe, ktorý zachytáva herca hrať na doskách, ktoré znamenajú svet. Z množstva záberov sme vybrali tri z rôznych divadelných hier, ktoré režiroval Popović. Prvá je z hry „Georges Dandin“ od Moliera, ktorá bola 37. hrou, ktorú Branko Popović režiroval v profesionálnych divadlech a 21. hrou v Národnom divadle v Užici. Popović raz povedal, že v tejto fraške Moliera ukázal svoj vlastný život a život moderného povýšenca, ktorý bolestne a sebairóniou zosmiešňoval neúspešné manželstvo, tému, ktorá patrí k jeho oblúbeným. Je to hra, v ktorej autor brilantne kritizuje pokrytie a snahu dostať sa do „vyššej spoločnosti“.

Druhá fotografia zachytáva majstrovské stvárnenie „Lisistraty“ od Aristofana, ktorá je podľa divadelných expertov najlepšou divadelnou hrou na svete. Toto predstavenie bolo prvým na scéne divadla v Užici, ktoré bolo odohrané v antickom jazyku. Aristofanes veril, že vojnu, ako mužskú väšeň, možno prekonáť iba tým, že spôsobí ešte väčšiu väšeň, zbraň, ktorú je možné nájsť v ženach. Majstrovské diela ako je posledné menované, podľa režiséra Branka Popoviča, prežilo stáročia, pretože jeho univerzálnosť a modernosť sa prejavuje práve v jeho originalite. Krásne kostýmy, skvelé herecké výkony a veľké sceny sú zastúpené na fotografií.

„Rýchlosť temnoty“ je dielom Stojana Steva Tešića, srbského spisovateľa, ktorý žil a pracoval v USA. Hlavnou témovej tejto hry je, ako sa zdá, obyčajná americká rodina, ktorá sa rúti do katastrofy a úpadku.

Tvorivé nadšenie a umenie objektívnu Baju Vujovića sú umocnené v jeho fotografiách, v ktorých vyjadril krásu kostýmov hercov a scén z hier režirovaných Brankom Popovičom.

Táto výstava s názvom „Užice pre Nitru“, je dar slovenskému ľudu a milovníkom umenia, ale aj ostatným ľuďom slovanskej krvi, ktorí pochopia tieto umelecké diela a spoja tieto dva bratské národy, v ktorých názve dominuje písmeno S - Srbsko a Slovensko, malba a tvorivosť, alebo v srbcine Srbija, Slovačka, súkarištvo a stvaralaštvo.

Like Velizar, a character from his short story "Stone Stepson" Vidan Nikolic takes from nature the noble wood together with a captured stone and makes a figure out of it. There is a belief among the Serbian people that if you love a girl, you must make and draw her character with love. If you love, you will make, if you make, you will get closer. Nikolic has long found his emotion, and his everlasting love of art can be seen in his wonderful stories and in his creation of the unusual pieces. His sculptures are the embodiment of his freed individuality that is ever growing and that wants to get out of its own boundaries and become a part of the Universe.

Branko Popović, an art director, the Assistant Professor of Performing Arts and the Vice Dean for Education at the Teacher-training faculty in Uzice will present his work through the photographs made by the Uzice master photographer Baja Vujovic. Each photo is a story in itself, saving from the oblivion that what actors play on the stage. We chose three out of a number of shots from different plays that Popovic directed. The first is from the play "George Dandin" by Moliere which was the thirty-seventh play that Branko Popovic directed at professional theaters, and the twenty-first at the National Theatre in Uzice. Popovic once said that, in this farce, Moliere showed his own life and the life of a modern upstart, mocking painfully and with self-irony a failed marriage, his favorite subject, dealing with a fatal game of George Dandin and Angelique, mixing, for the umpteenth time, life and stage, and making this piece a brilliant critic of fashion, hypocrisy and unhealthy pursuit of "high society".

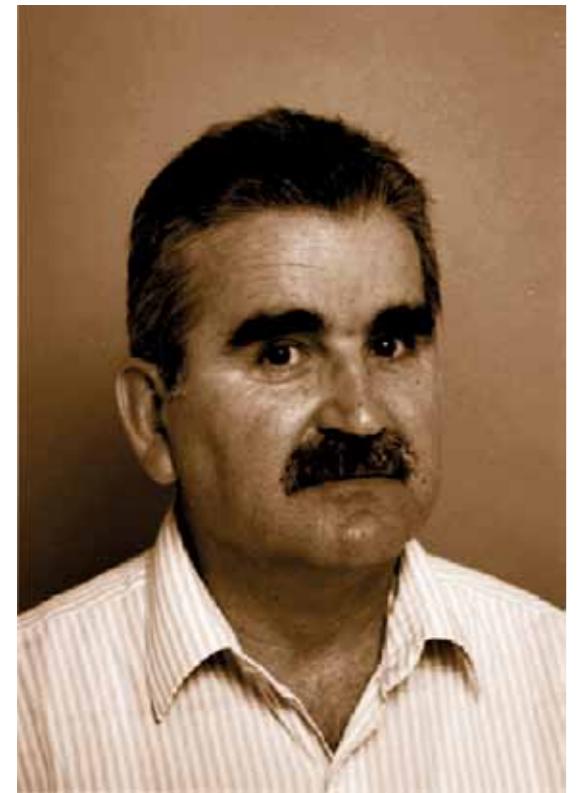

The second photo shows a detail from a masterfully performed "Lisistrata" by Aristophanes, which, in the opinion of the theater experts, is the best comedy in the world. This performance was the first setting of an ancient text on the stage of Uzice Theater. Aristophanes believed that the war, as a masculine passion, can be overcome only by causing a greater passion, a weapon for which is to be found in women. Pieces like this, according to director Branko Popovic, survived the centuries because of their universality and modernity reflected precisely in their originality. Beautiful costumes, great acting and a great scene are represented in the photograph.

"Speed of Darkness" is a piece of Stojan Steve Tesic, a Serbian writer who lived and worked in the USA. The backbone of this play makes, as it seems, an ordinary American family, which inevitably rushes into disaster and downfall.

By his creative enthusiasm and art of his lens, Baja Vujovic in his photos thoughtfully expressed the beauty of the actors, costumes and scenes from the plays directed by Branko Popovic.

This exhibition, called "Užice to Nitra", is a gift to Slovak people and art-lovers, but also to the Slavic blood that will understand and experience this painting, and bring together the two brotherly peoples in whose names the letter S dominates – Serbia and Slovakia, Painting and Creativity, or in Serbian - Srbija, Slovačka, súkarištvo and stvaralaštvo.
